

ASOP's In-House Workshop Training Program

Overview: The ASOP In-House Workshop Training Program is an initiative designed to harness the expertise of current ASOP members, specifically those holding ROT or OPE certification, to provide training in Orthopedic Casting for their fellow practice or hospital staff.

Instructor Eligibility:

Only current ASOP members with either ROT or OPE certification can participate as trainers.

There are some exemptions to required instructor certifications. MD/DO, PA-C, etc.

Application Process for Prospective Instructors:

If you are interested in becoming an in-house program instructor, please register and apply through the provided link: <https://form.jotform.com/asop/instructor-application-2023>

ASOP's In-House Workshop Training Program All ASOP current members who hold the ROT or OPE certification are considered eligible to train their fellow practice or hospital staff in Orthopedic Casting.

ASOP members who attend these in-house staff workshop will receive ASOP Certificates of Attendance and Continuing Education as if they attended an ASOP sponsored workshop.

Assumption: The management of both the practice and hospital is presumed to have given their consent for the instructor applicant to offer training. This consent is primarily based on the management's awareness and confidence in the applicant's experience and expertise in the field of Orthopedic Casting.

Training Agenda & Guidelines:

Instructors are advised to adhere to the one or two-day training agenda available on the Instructor Download page at castingworkshop.com.

While the core of the training should be based on the provided agenda, instructors are permitted to enhance the program by adding relevant sections or topics that they deem beneficial.

All in-house training schedules should be forwarded using the form provided to ASOP at least four weeks before the in-house training workshop is held. The dates, times and ASOP member attendees should be included.

Key Takeaways:

This program is a fantastic opportunity for experienced professionals to share their knowledge with fellow staff, ensuring the spread of best practices and expertise.

ASOP member attendees of the in-house workshop can receive the same acknowledgment and educational credit as they would from an ASOP-sponsored event.

Instructors have the flexibility to customize the training program while maintaining the core teachings provided in the agenda.

We look forward to witnessing the success of this initiative and the continuous growth of expertise within the Orthopedic Casting field. If any queries arise, please don't hesitate to reach out.

Overview: The ASOP In-House Workshop Training Program is an initiative designed to harness the expertise of current ASOP members, specifically those holding ROT or OPE certification, to provide training in Orthopedic Casting for their fellow practice or hospital staff.